MARGARET AYLWARD CENTRE

FOR FAITH AND DIALOGUE

Continuing our mission in the service of faith in a spirit of inclusivity in contemporary Ireland

MARGARET AYLWARD CENTRE FOR FAITH AND DIALOGUE

The Margaret Aylward Centre is located on the lawn at the front of the convent in Glasnevin, a beautiful setting surrounded by well-cared for gardens and mature trees. Sharing this beauty, providing a space for stillness, prayer and a focus on faith development enables us to continue our mission in the service of faith.

The focus on dialogue is of particular significance to the work of the centre. The cedar of Lebanon which stands in the space between the convent grounds and the Botanic Gardens is a symbol that resonates with Judaism, Christianity and Islam and reminds us of the need for dialogue between faiths.

The centre serves as a place for purposeful ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue and activity.

TREES AND WILDLIFE

This is an extraordinary building. It takes us all by surprise. It is a wonderful example of contemporary creativity in building and style and yet it is surrounded by so many symbols of Dublin life, past and present.
